Q: PHP - take $value between three symbols I am taking user input and insert the input into my database. But only if the input conforms to the format $value$. eg: If the input is $value. I'm looking for code to detect if the input is $value. I do not want to use regex because it will fail if the $value string contains any other characters. A: The simplest way is to use strpos():

```
if(strpos($string, $value)!== false) { // Success }

My top 3 investing tools I'm a personal finance blogger and a portfolio management advocate. As such I have invested in the market and read up on various strategies and tools to help me improve my returns. Below are the 3 investing tools that have helped me make the most of my investments.

1. Insight Private Placement Unit Trust Are you one of the many who can't take time off to invest? This is a great tool that allows you to invest through an entity where you buy units. Units give you exposure to the stock market but without having to buy and sell individual shares. You make your investment by acquiring units; and you make regular payments that are adjusted based on the price of your investments and your total share count. Through Insight's automated tools, you can track your returns and also have the opportunity to have your returns reinvested in units. This is a great tool for working people who are always on the go or are in between jobs.
2. Vanguard Diversified Bond Fund I'm a big believer in disciplined investment and fixed-income investments. While holding stock is a way to build wealth through building dividends, fixed-income investments such as bonds, have the added benefit of providing a secure income stream

We know that $\int_{-\infty}^{\infty} |f(x)| \, dx = \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} |g(x)| \, dx$. How can we show that $\int_{-\infty}^{\infty} |f(x)| \, dx = \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} |g(x)| \, dx \leq \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} |f(x)-g(x)| \, dx$? This may be a very simple question, 3e33713323
