Links C-SPAN has obtained video of then-House Judiciary Committee Chairman Henry Hyde questioning New York Times reporter Judith Miller at a June 19, 2003, hearing before the committee. The tape will air on C-SPAN2. The New York Times reports the paper is investigating the loyalty of three Times journalists in the wake of FBI Director Robert Mueller's public criticism of the paper's 2003 coverage. The New York Times' coverage of the FBI investigation into the Valerie Plame Wilson leak was at issue in Mueller's comments to a class of journalism students at Stanford University on Tuesday. "The only mission of the New York Times is to take money from the highest bidder for an ad and to disseminate it," said Mueller, adding that the paper's coverage of the Bush administration was "strikingly inaccurate." His comments, which were covered widely in the media, were both an attack on the paper's coverage and an effort to fire up a new generation of journalists. C-SPAN is unveiling a new series, "The Presidents and Their Cabinet," with the goal of providing greater insight into the way America's presidents have approached government. The show, which has six episodes planned, will showcase the roles played by the heads of each presidential administration from Richard Nixon to George W. Bush. In addition to examining the historical significance of each presidential administration and the drama and intrigue surrounding the formers, the series will also look at the differences in the leadership styles of each president and his cabinet. C-SPAN will devote its entire service to coverage of established in 2009Q: How to catch Exceptions from a class using the using I have an assignment where I have to code a C++ Exceptions Class. It has to make sure the program can deal with a lot of different types of exceptions (the number of which is not yet determined) and also deal with the error case. Using the using Exception Class I have to be able to catch certain exceptions (ex: for example, division by zero) and others must be handled the normal way. When I use the using Exception Class I always get a compilation error, I have tried adding throws declarations to all my functions, but no luck. Can anyone help with the code for the basic Exception Class? (before adding exceptions, it should be something like this: class myClass{ private: int myInt; public: void doSomething(int num){ int* myint = new int; *myint = num; delete myint; } }

And when I want to use it, I would call it like this: myClass myClass; myClass.doSomething(5); EDIT: Sorry, I forgot the braces around the constructor and delete functions. I forgot about constructors and destructors. Can someone write the class for me? EDIT 2: class Exception { private: int myint
