Q: Shell script - Fail to open a file I'm trying to write a script where it will check the file size of a folder, but every time it fails to open a file. The first problem i have is that i don't understand the problem. I'm trying to open a file with file-open, but it fails every time. The 2nd problem is that i'm not sure if this is a file size problem or a permission problem. I'm not too sure how to fix this. Here is my code : `#!/bin/sh echo "You are starting the script" echo "Today is : $(date)" export PATH=/usr/local/bin:/usr/bin:/bin while [ true ] do echo "Checking the size..." echo `ls -la | awk '{print $5}` file_size=`du -sh $LOG_DIR` if [ "$file_size" -lt "$MAX" ] then echo "Ok, it's ok." else echo "The size of the folder is $file_size! " echo "We'll check again in 1 minute " sleep 1 else echo "Checking again in 2 minutes " sleep 2 fi echo "Sleeping..." sleep 2 done Thanks for the answers A: file is a builtin command, you want file-open. #!/bin/bash`
