Learn More.Q: Exporting a Word document created in R Markdown I created a word document for my master thesis using the Knitr framework in R Markdown, and I need to have the final version both as.docx and as.rtf. How can I do this? I'm using R version 3.3.0 (2016-05-03) A: Solved. Create a.rtf file and save it in the same folder as your.Rmd. Then, use Knit('filename.Rmd') and view the.Rmd file. The file will be created and saved in the same folder. If you want to see the.docx file, you can use pdflatex() on the.Rmd file and save it as.tex. Then, view it in the original.Rmd file using knit2pdf(). Q: How to limit the number of most recent entries for an AWS SQS Queue? I have an SQS queue that has lots of messages in it and a filter that I am using to keep the last 1000 messages and discard the rest. I'm wondering how to do this using only AWS, rather than coding a complicated SQL query. A: If you're using the SQS console you can use the filters to select messages from a queue. You can select up to 1000 messages and they will be automatically returned to you in your response. A: You can't define a filter. You have to read the messages in the queue, and keeping the last 1000, and then processing the remainder in the client of your choice. Phew. But of course, why not use the console for that job? The clinical effectiveness of a 12-week water exercise program for patients with low back pain: a randomized controlled trial. The aim of this study was to examine whether a 12-week water exercise program would be effective in increasing water immersion time for patients with low back pain and in improving their activity and ability to engage in daily life. The study used a randomized controlled trial. A total of 111 patients aged 20-70
