The objectives of this study were to evaluate the suitability of the chi square statistics test for evaluation and making a decision of a taxicab_chivalry service and its implication in transport The second type of chi square test we will look at is the Pearson's chi-square test of association. You use this test when you have categorical data for twoÂ. The third kind of data we should be interested in is numerical data. As shown in Figure 10-3, we have three kinds of quantitative data: numerical data, length data, and area data. You may want to use the Chi-Squared Value as shown in Table 1-4 to find the Chi-Squared. Further, you may want to know if the expected frequencies of the two groups are the same or different. This difference between the actual frequencies and the expected frequencies is called Chi-Squared Value. This is the third kind of data that the Chi-Squared Test is used for. The fourth type of data is frequency distribution data. You should be familiar with the frequency distribution data as this is the type of data you may commonly encounter in Excel. You should be aware of the Data Distribution, which is the fifth type of data for the Chi-Squared Test. After discussing the data types for the Chi-Squared Test, you should have a better understanding of the Chi-Squared Test and its features. The Chi-Square Test is based on the following two assumptions. The first assumption is that the expected frequencies of the two groups are the same. The second assumption is that you have equally often observations in the two groups. Step 3: Looking Up the Probability Table You may look up the Chi-Squared Test value for each
